Judge Thurman Appears Before the Supreme Court.

Cut in Passenger Rates.

DENVER, October 9.—A war in passenger rates to the east was inaugurated here this afternoon, which sent rates to Missouri river points down nearly one-third and proportionally to other eastern points. The Missouri Pacific this morning claims to have received reliable information that the Santa Fe had been selling tickets from Pueblo to Kansas City for $12. As this was contrary to the rate of the governing association of the intercontinental roads it had agreed upon, the Missouri Pacific posted bulletins in front of their office that they had reduced rates to Kansas City from $18.15 to $12, to St. Louis, from $27.65 to $20, to Chicago, from $30.65 to $24.50, to New York, from $49.50 to $42.90. The reduction was complied with in the Burlington, Union Pacific and Santa Fe offices to night are that there will be a further reduction before a settlement is brought about.

The Bell Telephone Case in the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, October 9.—In the supreme court to day Judge Thurman opened an argument in behalf of the United States in the case of the government against the Bell Telephone Company. Thurman placed his cane on the table, and drawing from his pocket the spectacles case, placed the latter on the table in front of him, began his argument. His voice was low and husky at the start, but soon gathered strength and remained clear and strong to the close of his forty minutes speech. His manner of speaking was plain, simple and direct, and in his choice of words he used purely Anglo-Saxon as intelligible to the laity present as to the learned judges themselves sitting before the court. Facing the court, the right hand holding his eye glasses, the left at the pocket of his trousers he spoke slowly and distinctly with an evidence of oratorical flourish. He [illegible] the court room. A few minutes later Chief Justice Waite began his speech.

ORIGIN OF THE SUIT.

The telephone case under argument today grows out of the suit brought by Attorney General Hanks in the circuit court of the United States for the district of Massachusetts to have cancelled two patents granted Alex Graham Bell as inventor of the telephone on the ground that the patents were obtained by fraud. The Bell company entered a demurrer to this suit, in which they contained among other things that in the absence of any statutes he had power to maintain a bill in equity to cancel a patent for an invention. The circuit court held that this point was well taken, but furthermore ruled that even were the court not to go to this extreme length the demurrer must be sustained on the ground that the main allegations raised against the validity of Bell's patents could be advanced in answering, at suit, and that the attorney general could not bring suit to cancel a patent on grounds which constitute the offense in infringement cases. The case comes to the supreme court on an appeal at this decision.

Judge Thurman in his argument said the Bell company conceded the constitutional right of the government to enact a statute giving the attorney general the power to bring suit to cancel a patent, but contained that in the absence of such statute the attorney general had no such power. Judge Thurman asserted that no congressional action was necessary, that the constitution gave an authority for bringing of the suit, and declared that congress could not by express statute limit this power. It would therefore abrogate the constitution.

Crop Prospects.

WASHINGTON, October 9.—An informal conference of republican senators was held this morning to talk over the general situation, more especially to arrange a course of debate on the tariff bill. The results were meagre, owing to the fact everywhere entertained whether a quorum of the senate can be held at Washington, should the tariff debate be protracted beyond next week. No action was taken in conference, and the entire policy sketched, but there is reason to believe that if the senate finds itself for any length of time without a quorum either adjournment sine die or recess for several weeks will be taken. Therefore now it is probable that the session will practically come to an end next week or early the week after that the tariff bill will be left for [illegible] day.

In the Senate.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, October 9.—The conference report on the deficiency bill was received and read in full. Some discussion followed as to the reason why the senate conferees agreed to the striking out of the provision granting the widow of the year's salary of Chief Justice Waite to his widow. The explanation was made that the conferees decided [illegible]

Ingalls made a strong plea in behalf of the provision as a matter of simple justice and recognition of Waite's eminent services to the nation.

The conference report was agreed to.

On motion of Hoar the bill as to the [illegible]

Edmunds introduced a bill to pay the widow of Chief Justice Waite the balance of his year's salary. Call as Berry still objected to its immediate consideration the bill was placed on the calendar.

A resolution introduced by Stewart directing the committee on [illegible] to report a bill to [illegible] and report as to the number of aliens, foreign companies and corporations owning and working mines in the territories, was adopted.

The senate then resumed consideration of the tariff bill and was addressed by Hoar, at the close of whose remarks [illegible] went over till to-morrow.

Edmunds opposed Mr. Berry's motion to withdraw his objection to the consideration of the bill for the benefit of the widow of Chief Justice Waite.

Berry said he would withdraw his objection, stating that would be equivalent to consent to the passage of the bill, which he considered thoroughly bad.

Edmunds thereupon gave notice that he would to-morrow morning move to take up the bill for consideration.

Adjourned.

HOUSE.

Jackson, of Ohio, gave notice that he would raise the point of no quorum during the rest of the session, whenever possible, except on appropriation and revenue bills.

Burnes, of Missouri, obtained unanimous consent to report from the committee on appropriations a bill appropriating money for enforcement of the Chinese exclusion act.

Passed without debate.

When the senate bill appropriating $75,000 for the Cherokee freedmen, their proportion of certain proceeds of lands under the act of March 3, 1885, Kilgore, of Texas, announced that he would raise the point of no quorum on the bill. "I will go further," he said, "than the gentleman from Ohio, and declare that nothing ought to pass except appropriations for bills and a resolution to adjourn sine die."

While several members were laboring with him to forego his intended motion the bill passed.

Conferences agreed on the bill to allow persons who have relinquished homestead entries to make another entry also passed.

The senate bill passed supplemental to the act of February 3rd, 1887, providing for meeting of presidential electors etc.

Barnes, of Missouri, submitted the conference report on the general deficiency appropriation bill.

McKenna of California hoped the report would be rejected, as an antagonism to it on the ground that the bill contained an appropriation of $276,000 for Chinese indemnity. That bill made the appropriation for "humane reasons." The president had recommended it on the ground of national honor. The calendars of the house were growing with bills which should be passed for humane reasons and for reasons befitting our national honor. If justice and humanity to the Chinese first be done at home.

Vandever of California, characterized the president's message accompanying his approval of the Chinese exclusion bill as an apology to the Chinese government for his act in approving it.

Barnes said that the state department was firmly of the opinion that the appropriation of $276,000 should be made as an evidence of the willingness of the government to pay for the damage perpetrated upon citizens of a foreign country.

On agreement to report the vote stood 34 to 8, and [illegible] of Florida raised a point of no quorum, and the house adjourned.

CHICAGO STRIKE.

Cars on the West Side Division Also Tied Up.

Three-Fourths of the People Compelled to Walk.

Bitterness of Feeling Extending to Outside Sympathizers.

Riots Suppressed by the Police with Difficulty.

Third Chicago Strike.

CHICAGO, October 9, 2:10.—The [illegible] cable cars in all sections of the west and north sides are now tied up. The strikers on the west side began their morning [illegible] the last night car was run into the barns. Nearly three-fourths of the population of the city are left without any means of transportation down town for the [illegible] and all the regular [illegible] every car and express wagon.

Now [illegible]

On the west division today [illegible] is practically no travel. No trouble has been attempted.

CHICAGO, October 9.—The [illegible] of feeling toward the management of the lines appears to increase. The company gives evidence of speaking to one side element in the population, and meeting the strikers' [illegible] demands. Lumber streets today a number of cars had a large plank across the track and fastened it securely with iron spikes. When six Garfield avenue cars came from their down town trip they were stopped. The police got out of the patrol wagon but did not offer to remove the obstruction, strikers immediately surrounded the cars, and as the result of their solicitation three of the men joined their ranks.

The success of this action led others to follow the boys' example and a riot resulted. The streets were jammed with howling mobs and the tracks covered with obstructions. Employes of the road endeavored to remove the debris, but it was replaced as fast as taken away. Finally the mob became so large and demonstrative the sergeant in command of the police ordered a charge. The officers, aggravated somewhat at the stubbornness of the people responded with a will. They made a rush and used their clubs freely. Men and boys were hit and even women were not spared one woman who was partly crippled from a former injury being severely wounded by a club blow on the head.

Altogether about fifteen cars were run at irregular intervals on the north side during the day. Everywhere the newdrivers and conductors were greeted with a shower of opprobrious epithets from the crowds which lined the streets. Alderman Beach of the 23d ward took a prominent part in a delay which occurred at a point where an excavation was being made under the tracks. Policemen in the first car alighted and pushed the [illegible] Two in the second car were about to do the same when Beach stepped forward and ordered the officers to keep their hands off, adding that it was a shame to have these scabs run the cars. The strike on the west division was without special incident during the day. A few cars were sent out over the principal lines late in the afternoon under police guard.

A disturbance more serious than those of the north side marked the ending of the trip on Madison street this evening. As the cars were approaching Western avenue on their return a crowd surged around them in such a compact mass that it was impossible for the horses to move. A platoon of police forced their way for the leading car, but the one following was brought to a sudden stop by a wooden wedge inserted in the switch by some person in the crowd. In a moment after it stop the vicinity was a panic of pandemonium. Stones and sticks were hurled at the car and the air rang with yells and curses. A flying brick struck Assistant Superintendent Nagel, who was driving the car, in the stomach. Utterly an oath he pulled a revolver from his pocket and turned menacingly towards the crowd. His example was quickly followed by the conductor, but the two men were disarmed with little ceremony by the police. Nagel left the car and was immediately attacked by a Northwestern switchman named Gleason, who was under the influence of liquor. This man had to be mercilessly clubbed and then sat upon a patrol wagon by Sergeant Stevens before he could be subdued. Others were scarcely less determined and but for the fact that all appeared to be unarmed the fray would scarcely have been finished without loss of life.

GOOD TEMPLARS.

The Twenty-First Annual Meeting of the Grand Lodge in Session.

The grand lodge of the jurisdiction of Colorado Wyoming and New Mexico, Independent Order of Good Templars, met in its twenty-second annual session yesterday afternoon in the hall of the Colorado Springs lodge on Nevada avenue.

Rev. I. B. Self of Canon City, G. W. C. T., called the meeting to order, and in a few appropriate remarks congratulated the lodge on the successful year through which they had just passed. Nearly all of the grand officers were present, including Mrs. Sewell, of Silver Cliff, G. W. V. T., James Light, Denver, G. W. S., and W. H. McClure, Canon City, G. W. T.

Twenty-five new members had conferred upon them the grand lodge degree, but aside from this no business was transacted except the routine work of organization including the appointment of a credentials committee and one to report an order of business.

The report of the grand secretary which has been printed for distribution shows the order to be in a promising condition. Seventeen new lodges and the largest gain in membership in the history of the jurisdiction are reported for the past year.

The Good Templars are now one of the largest temperance organizations in existence. Founded in central New York in 1851 the order has spread into every state and territory in the United States and to Canada, Europe, Asia and Africa. There are now in good standing more than two hundred grand lodges and several thousand subordinate lodges with a membership of [illegible] for life to total abstinence.

The R. W. G. lodge will meet next May in Chicago at which meeting delegates from all parts of the world have signified their intention of being present. The grand lodge now in session here will elect two delegates to go to Chicago.

An informal but very well attended reception was held in the hall of the local lodge last evening. The [illegible] today and to-morrow at 9 o'clock and at 2 o'clock. The grand officers for the ensuing year will be elected this morning. An excursion to Green Mountain Falls will be given by the Colorado Springs lodge to-morrow or Friday to the visiting delegates.

M'ALLISTER'S REPLY.

Major Henry McAllister Replies to the Speech of

Hon. Charles S. Thomas of Denver on the 29th Ultimo.

A Large Audience Listens to a Rattling Tariff Talk.

Free Heresy of Free Trade Thoroughly Ventilated.

Opera House hall was well filled to its utmost capacity last evening with an interested audience of ladies and gentlemen to hear Major McAllister deliver an address upon protection, his speech being mainly devoted to answering that made by Hon. Chas. S. Thomas a short time since. The speaker began by saying that Mr. Thomas made one truthful remark in the speech of two and a half hours, and that was it commencing was much too short to intelligently discuss so momentous a question as that of the tariff. He alluded to Mr. Thomas' statement that [illegible] republicans four years ago in case Cleveland should be elected had not been settled, and said that a republican senate had prevented disastrous democratic legislation.

The speaker in touching upon Mr. Thomas' surplus argument declared that there would be no surplus until every cent of the national debt was paid off. That the government could well afford to enter the market and buy its own bonds at market price. If the currency was being contracted it was the fault of the administration in not putting the money into circulation by buying bonds. The speaker said that the debt [illegible] large proportion for taxes. The control of the affairs of the house of representatives had created a government of their own, had sold bonds at par and at the end of a few years these bonds had sold for fifty cents on a dollar. The speaker argued against a reduction of the duty on sugar and thought that the necessaries of life should be amply protected in order to encourage their production. He censured the suffering in the south during the war for salt, paper and other articles of prime necessity. The passage of the Mills bill the speaker thought, would increase rather diminish the revenue, while American interests would [illegible]. The surplus after paying the national debt, should be divided among the states on the basis of population. Jackson and Calhoun both urged this in 1836, and the whigs also a few years later. The major thought that the tax on whiskey and tobacco should remain. Mr. Thomas' remarks [illegible] on tariff on lumber were badly demolished, as was also his argument in favor of free wool, the speaker reading the views of New England wool manufacturers in favor of the rates of 1867.

The labor question was discussed at length, the speaker thinking that the democratic accusation that the republicans wanted cheap labor was rather cheeky, inasmuch as they had fought for [illegible]. Statistics were cited to show the falsity of the charge made by Henry George and others that wages were falling. It was absolutely false. Wages in manufacturing have risen 20 per cent in twenty years. The advantage to farmers of a protective tariff was shown, farm wages being high where large manufacturing existed and low in agricultural [illegible] Ohio being $34.45 per month, and in Kentucky just over the Ohio river, $15.20. In northern Illinois where there were many manufactures, $27.53 per month; in central Illinois $24.65 and in the southern part of the state only $19.87. In the eastern states wages were $26.61. In the western states $23.63, and in the southern states only $15.30. The wages paid to mill hands were the highest. Land was high where manufacturing establishments were plenty, and low elsewhere. In Pennsylvania land averaged $49 per acre, in Virginia $10.80, in Massachusetts $42, in Mississippi $3.50, in New Jersey $65, in Georgia $4.30, and so on.

The speaker's remarks on reciprocity in trade, and on unprotected industries were loudly applauded. A comparison was drawn between the wages in protected England and the United States and the cost of living in the respective countries showing that wages were as high in England here, and the cost of living much less. The correspondent of London Iron, soon after visiting this country, had stated that the only thing that protection did protect was labor. Contract labor was denounced, and the speaker declared that the republican party was in no way to blame for the system. The speaker ridiculed Mr. Thomas' statement that if higher wages were paid to American workmen it was because they worked harder and longer. He also cited Cobden to show that the tariff is seldom a tax, giving the statistics of iron, tin, steel rails, salt, etc. The question of trusts was discussed and the remarks of Mr. Thomas on the decline of American shipping answered in full. The speaker closed by defending the republican platform of 1888 and declared that it embodied the truest and best views of the party, which [illegible] on the tariff question within the last four years. The party did not think the [illegible] act of self conceit better or worse than the persistency of earnest inquiry and corrective discovery. The major's remarks were well received and at the close loudly applauded.

A reception has been tendered Rev W. F. Slocum the new president of Colorado college. The reception will be given at the college this afternoon at 4 o'clock. It will be a social occasion with brief addresses by the mayor and several of our leading citizens and President Slocum. All residents or visitors in our city who are interested in the college are cordially invited to be present and make the acquaintance of the new [illegible].

A meeting was held [illegible] hours of labor in Colorado Springs. The Exhibition company has secured at considerable expense the American Base Ball combination in connection with the Chicago and All American clubs to play at Colorado Springs and play an exhibition game on the Athletic grounds on October 20th. Place tickets will be issued by Captain Anson who is on their way to Australia to play ball during the winter months. The Exhibition company deserves great credit for affording the base ball loving citizens of Colorado Springs such a treat and should be liberally patronized. Mr Anson says the Exhibition will stop in Denver and Salt Lake between Chicago and San Francisco.

...Yesterday afternoon a reception was tendered President and Mrs Slocum at the college building by the trustees of Colorado college. The place was thronged with people who wished to pay their respects to the new president. After an hour spent in presenting the guests the company assembled in the chapel and listened to several brief formal addresses of welcome. The Rev Mr Gregg gracefully presided and introduced the speakers with happy remarks. His honor Mayor Strickler, Mr I De Witt Peltz, Mr E. R. Fliriell, Hon. W. S. Jackson, Rev J. S. Black all spoke words of hearty, welcome and expressed sincere sympathy for the college work. They pledged co-operation on the part of the citizens of this town. The speaking was closed with an excellent address from President Slocum. He said he had come because he believed Colorado college had a future as a useful institution in moulding the thought and conscience of the new west and he should devote his best energies to a new field of work. The reception closed with singing by Mrs G. E. Merrill which it is needless to say was one of the pleasantest features of the reception.

The series of lectures at the First Baptist church, which Rev. Richard Meux Hughes has arranged to continue during the fall months was begun last night. Rev. J. Q. A. Henry of Portland, Ore., inaugurated the series with the subject "The Cross and the Cult." Notwithstanding the large audience present the speaker was under no doubt to the other attractions in the city last night. The lecture was devoted largely to the labor and social troubles of the day and the prevalence of [illegible] debts and immorality which the speaker believed to be largely due to the saloon influence. The next lecture in the course will be by the Rev. Kerr B. Topper of Grand Rapids, Mich.

The name of R. T. O'Brien, of this city, is well known throughout the Rocky Mountain region as the maker of fine saddles and trunks; in fact the buckskin bronco is a familiar picture from Wyoming to the Mexican border. Mr. O'Brien has this year added to his establishment a large stock of [illegible] blanks is ever brought to the city. He has just received a large quantity of plush and fur robes which he proposes to dispose of during the coming winter. There are robes of all kinds of fur from Mexican dog to Astrakan, and the softest and brightest plush. Persons who desire anything in this line will do well to step into Mr. O'Brien's and look at his [illegible]

The African Methodist Episcopal district conference will meet in this city tomorrow. The district comprises all of Colorado, New Mexico, Wyoming and Montana. There will be representatives from all of these states and territories. There will be between thirty and thirty-five ministers present. Bishop T. M. D. Ward of Baltimore, D. C., will preside, assisted by Bishop A. Grant of San Antonio, Texas. The session of the body will be held in the A. M. E. church, but an effort is being made to secure the opera house for the sunday services as a great many persons both white and colored will desire to hear the bishops preach, and will be unable to do so if the services are held in the church. The conference will be in session five or six days.

The Real Estate, Loan and Title Guarantee Company, with a capital of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, has just been organized in Denver. The officers are among the most [illegible] dealers in that city. The company examines titles of real estate purchases and mortgages, and guarantees against all loss and inconvenience by reason of possible defects in the titles, from whatever cause they may be due. Similar companies have met with unqualified success in the larger eastern cities, and have been of special value to those who have divided large tracts of land and placed them upon the market. When we remember that in decisions which have been rendered by the highest courts it is decided that recorders, abstractors, conveyancers and attorneys are not liable it will be seen how necessary such a company is. The cost of examination and guarantee is less than the [illegible] charge for examination on the old system, and can be definitely fixed at the outset with tolerable certainty. In case the guarantee is refused, no charge whatever is made. Mr. Henry LeB. Wills of this city has been appointed agent of the company for Colorado Springs. Those purchasing property or placing loans will find it greatly to their interest to secure an examination of their titles through him.

The Hon. Charles S. Thomas propounded certain inquiries of the Leadville Herald-Democrat. The Herald Democrat answered them in a way that will meet all present and future curiosity Mr. Thomas will have regarding the effect of the Mills bill on lead.

Elsewhere will be found a brief notice of the reception given President Slocum of Colorado college. It was an informal affair, but showed the general interest of the people of this city in the college, and in its new president. There is now an splendid opportunity to put this institution on its feet and make it what it should be, a great educational power. In a few days we shall give our readers a clearer idea of the work it is now doing and the plans for the future. President Slocum enters his new field with high hopes and enthusiastic devotion. He deserves and should have the hearty support of every friend of learning in this city.

There is a splendid chance for non-partisan acts by each of the two great parties. The senate tariff bill puts several articles unnecessarily taxed on the free list and will make an even greater reduction of the surplus than the Mills bill. It is evident that the house bill cannot pass the senate. The democrats profess to favor the reduction of taxation and of the surplus. If they cannot secure the passage of the Mills bill which they consider better than the senate bill why not secure the passage of the senate bill? It is in accordance with all their professions regarding the tariff, and will [illegible] so far in some particulars as the democratic bill. It does not raise the tariff in any one particular, and lowers it in many. If the democratic party is sincere it must vote for this bill, provided the Mills bill cannot be passed. It is said Mr. Cleveland will sign the bill.

The republicans in New York city have an equally good chance. The County democracy nominated Abram S. Hewitt for mayor. He is by far the most excellent mayor New York city has had since the war. He has been independent, intelligent and conscientious in the discharge of every duty. There is no chance of the republicans electing their candidate for mayor. Even if there was it is not likely that a man of as great ability and of as tried capacity could be induced to run. Patriotic devotion to the interests of New York city should give Mayor Hewitt a large majority. The election of Mayor Hewitt would be a terrible blow to the politicians. It would practically say to the best record made by any mayor of New York in modern times, that the [illegible] should be [illegible] and the [illegible] stock [illegible] and [illegible]
